

Sister Enhancement Groups Statement

As sister habitat enhancement groups and hatcheries across the Salish Sea, Nile Creek Enhancement Society (NCES) and Alouette River Management Society (ARMS) share a common mission to enhance and protect our fish habitat and watersheds, as well as our marine waters, on which our salmonids depend. Through our reach across the sea, we wish to extend our protection, learn from each other and support our goals of continued education, protection of our waters and the fish they support.

As we link our websites together, let us support one another's efforts in all we do, encouraging and supporting each other through letters of support and sharing our goals together through media releases and social media announcements.

ARMS and NCES acknowledge the excellent restoration projects each have done to create and protect salmon byways and passes to their native spawning and rearing waters. We hope, through positive collaboration, we can learn from and support each other to protect our watersheds and marine waters into the future.
